FAIRBRIDGE:

Every year Fairbridge wins the trust and commitment of over 3,600 young people aged 13-25. Not in education, employment and training, or at risk of dropping out, these are young people many other organisations find difficult to work with. As a national charity with 15 teams based in some of the most disadvantaged urban areas in the country, Fairbridge has over 25 years experience of successfully engaging 'hard to reach' young people. Using our expertise, our aim is to train face to face workers in the voluntary and statutory sector. Each session will be staffed by our specialist trainer.
