TRUSTEES ANNUAL REPORT

The directors and trustees for the purposes of the Companies Act have pleasure in presenting their report and the financial statements of the charity for the year ended 30 September 2022. The accounts have been prepared in accordance with relevant accounting standards, the requirements of the Charities Act 1993 (as amended by the Charities Act 2005) and the Statement of Recommended Practice (SORP 2005) on accounting for charities.

GOVERNING DOCUMENT

The Institute for Outdoor Learning is a charitable company limited by guarantee, incorporated on 18 February 2011 and registered as a charity on 22 October 2012. The company was established under a memorandum of Association which established the objects and powers of the charitable company and is governed under its Articles of Association

The activities of the charity "Institute for Outdoor Learning" were transferred to the charitable company on 1 March 2013

OBJECTIVES

The object of the Institute is:

To advance the education of the public in and through outdoor education.

It has sought to achieve this during the year by:

- Holding advisory meetings with representatives of its regions and Special Interest Groups to guide the managing executive.
- Co-operating and exchanging information and advice with other charities, voluntary bodies and statutory authorities.
- Organising a national conference and conferences in each of its Home Nations and major English regions.
- Organising, through its regional structure, a series of seminars, workshops and training courses across the UK, which were open to all members and many open to non-members.
- Providing extensive information and consultation services at regional and national level, for both members and non-members to identify, examine and report on issues concerning outdoor learning.
- Publishing an e-based monthly newsletter for members providing information about the activities of the Institute and links to other related organisations and activities.
- Publishing Horizons, the foremost magazine, dedicated to the learning and development issues of the Outdoors and printed quarterly in full colour. It is funded by a combination of subscriptions and advertising and has a circulation of approximately 60% to members and 40% to interested nonmembers. The services of a freelance editor for the magazine are retained part time, and articles are contributed by volunteers from throughout the industry.
- Publishing The Journal for Adventure Education and Outdoor Learning the only UK based peer reviewed research paper-based journal for the field.
- Accepting invitations to answer questions or contribute ideas and opinions on behalf of the field in a number of government or statutory consultations and actively seeking to respond on occasions.
- Requiring members to subscribe to its ethical Code of Conduct including its policy to promote equality of opportunity for individuals and respect for cultural diversity, and its policy on sustainability based on the principle of having minimum impact on the natural environment.
- Employing the services of two full time and three part time staff members. These resources enable the Institute to publish its own magazine and other publications in-house, to run the mail order bookshop and to administer its own membership. In addition, one national and a small number of regional contracted service providers enable the Institute to continue to develop its professional development services.

In recognition of developing best practice, the Trustees operate a formal and structured approach to the induction and training of Trustees. This structured approach includes specific focus and training on individual areas of governance and management of the company, using external expert advisers where appropriate.

The chief executive ensures that the trustees have access to resources which will advise them of their legal obligations under Charity Law, the Constitution, the Executive Committee, decision making processes, the business plan and financial status of the Institute. They are encouraged to attend, where possible, external seminars and events which may assist them in their role. The Institute uses the National Occupational Standards for Trustees as best practice guidance. Trustees are encouraged to meet with staff and other trustees regularly.

REVIEW OF DEVELOPMENTS, ACTIVITIES AND ACHIEVEMENTS

The Institute's individual and organisation membership have been significantly impacted by Covid-19 and related restrictions. Residential school visits stopped across all home nations and general population meeting and movement restrictions have further constrained activity. With some member organisation ceasing to trade membership income has declined but not to an unsustainable level. Membership income remains a key factor in enabling the Institute to fulfil its charitable objects, supported by income from grants and traded services.

Many of the Institute's members utilise residential models to deliver their outdoor learning services and the UK and home nation governments continued to placed restrictions on provision of residential experiences, especially for schools, well into 2022. As a result, the Institute focused its executive capacity on influencing government's thinking and action. Particular attention has been paid to ensuring the different outdoor learning voices in the different home nations were appropriately represented. At Westminster this led to the establishment of the School Travel Sector Stakeholder Group to enable an informed dialogue with Department for Education and significant expert support from a lobbying firm funded by PGL.

In late 2020 the Institute supported the establishment of an All Party Parliamentary Group for Outdoor Learning chaired by Robin Millar MP for Abercinwy & Tim Farron MP for South Lakes. Initially the secretariat for the APPG was provided by Plas Y Brenin and has more recently moved to the Outdoor Council supported by the Institute. The Outdoor Council is soon to merge with the IOL

The Institute continues to provide a wide range of support to the sector. That provision included online facilities, including an extensive series of webinars and workshops, questionnaires, surveys and CPD resources, as well as an increase in levels of advice, lobbying and representation activity. The dramatic increase in on-line participation during the pandemic revealed the value placed on these services by members, as well as the wider sector. This activity is reported to the sector through monthly newsletters, quarterly magazines, blogs, social media and conference presentations across the sector.

More specifically the Institute continues to publish the quarterly magazine Horizons, containing articles sharing good practice written by practitioners. The Institute also continues to work with Taylor & Francis to publish the Journal of Adventure Education and Outdoor Learning, four issues per annum. The volume of academic papers being reviewed by its Editorial Board reflects the interest in academic research in outdoor learning.

The Institute has also continued to offer accreditation for individual outdoor learning practitioners. This service remains an important element of the Institute's approach to recognising and developing outdoor learning practices and has been kept at an affordable cost through a level of subsidy from the Institute's available funds. In addition to accrediting individuals and in order to maintain and develop standards in outdoor learning, the Institute continues to grow its provision of accreditation of training courses by organisation members.

The Institute worked with a group of employer representatives, building on the establishment of a level 3 Outdoor Learning apprenticeship to establish standards and gain recognition for a level 5 apprenticeship.

The Institute continues to provide support for areas of specific interest in the outdoor learning. The three primary types of Special Interest Group (SIG): Professional Practice Groups (PPGs); Professional Discussion Groups (PDGs) and IOL Research Groups, were all active in 2022.

The Institute continues to work with The Activity Industry Mutual to provide liability cover for members. This mutually beneficial partnership enables members to access appropriate liability cover, support the Mutual's desire to promote good standards of practice across the outdoor learning sector and ensures financial sustainability for conferences and other activity.

Outdoor Learning Research Hubs have continued to be supported by the Institute. Research Hub co-ordinators continue to seek to provide a collaborative and informed approach to an outdoor learning research agenda. In addition to support sector development IOL has continued to part fund and advise on some targeted research. The Institute formed a partnership with Brathay Hall Trust and Outward Bound Trust last year and has helped to fund research into the measuring of value in outdoor learning with Lancaster University Business School. The Institute also continues to represent the interests of outdoor learning practitioners and organisations, working with the Outdoor Council and directly supporting and/or influencing Natural England, Department for Education, EEF, DCMS, HSE, a range of National Governing Bodies of Sport and others. In addition to the above dialogue with DfE, the Institute sits on DCMS' National Youth Advisory Board.

The work with partners to create a single more efficient and effective member body for the outdoor learning sector has continued. This work to amalgamate British Activity Providers Association, Association of Heads of Outdoor Education Centres, Outdoor Council and IOL may result in a body known as The Outdoor Learning Association.

The Institute continues to provide administration services for AHOEC and The Forest School Association, as well as hosting the Adventure Activities Licencing Authorities (AALA) online information log, to help share learning from Health & Safety related incidents and accidents in the sector.

Building on its work to date the Institute continued to play a key role in the work of Adventure UK in 2022, planning to create a sector led adventurous activity inspection regime, in response to the UK Government's request for the sector to develop an option to AALA.

During the year the Institute appointed a new Chief Executive and a new Business and Operations Manager.

FUTURE PLANS

During 2023 the trustees are also considering some key areas to focus the work of the Institute:

- Investing in a new membership platform to give a better service and value to our members.
- Exploring the establishment of the new Outdoor Learning Association enabling better joined up working across a range of membership organisation, resulting in more efficient sector development, a more coherent voice influencing policy and a more accessible approach for those wishing to engage with the sector.
- Continuing to build the evidence base for the effectiveness of outdoor learning, to develop and manage a research agenda for outdoor learning, improve standards in the use of models for change and strengthen links between research and practice.
- Continue to work to develop a map of outdoor learning interventions enabling all to better understand the opportunities and benefits associated with outdoor learning and different stages throughout school age life.
- Working with Sport England, CIMSPA, NGB's and others to develop common professional standards and vocational structures and recognition where possible.
- Build influence and support for Outdoor Learning in Youth provision with a view to establishing and sharing good practice models and attracting additional support & funding.
- Supporting the Home Nations in their work to embed outdoor learning within their curriculums.

PUBLIC BENEFIT

The trustees consider that work to:

- Assisting UK and home nation governments to draw on the outdoor learning sector in an informed manner.
- Develop new apprenticeship standards and establish an external quality assurance provision to maintain and support development of those standards.
- Developing a map of outdoor learning interventions and delivering a related national campaign.
- Facilitating debate between practitioners and research academics in outdoor learning.
- Enabling research into good practice and value measures for outdoor learning's role in UK society.
- Work to accredit good practice in training for outdoor learning practitioners.
- The provision of guidance to the wider media.
- On-going works such as provision of outdoor learning conferences for teachers, youth workers, rangers and outdoor instructors.
- Development of a sector led alternative to ALAA.

These and other works, constitutes the charity fulfilling its obligation to provide a public benefit required by the Charity Commission.

FINANCIAL REVIEW

In common with many organisations in the past year the recovery from the pandemic and then concerns about forthcoming cost of living crisis have restricted sources of income and in some cases caused members to leave or even cease trading. This has led to a slight reduction in membership income. The trustees recognise that the Institute has to carefully manage its available funds to develop and maintain a wide range of supporting services for the outdoor learning sector. The trustees continued to invest in research activity and consciously conduct traded projects to generate surpluses to support this.

The Institute will continue to be largely dependent on the funding from its members to fulfil its charitable objects and will seek to ensure that the development of any new services is either self-funding or undertaken with a funding partner organisation. Acknowledging that we are a membership charity we will be investing on our membership offer moving forward.

RISK POLICY

The trustees have examined the major strategic and operational risks, which the charity faces and confirm that systems have been established to produce regular reports so that the necessary steps can be taken to lessen these risks. A regular SWOT & PESTLE analysis' are undertaken – with the acknowledgement that the major risk to the Charity being insolvency which is mitigated by careful financial planning and reporting.

As the major income is through membership subscriptions, a significant drop in membership is the greatest single risk to the Charity. Consequently the "voice" of the membership is listened to by the staff and trustees through regional sub-groups and meetings. Products and services are constantly reviewed to ensure the needs of the membership are being met and membership numbers and trends are reported at every trustee meeting. The stable membership implies that this strategy is working and that there is no immediate risk to this source of income.

The new CEO has developed and implemented a new development plan with KPI's across the board to ensure that progress is constantly monitored.

RESERVES POLICY

The trustees have reviewed the charity's needs for reserves in line with the guidance issued by the Charity Commission.

It is the view of the Trustees that the Institute should usually hold the equivalent of 3 months running costs, varying with the activity cycles, as readily available reserve. Currently cash reserves are running a little above this. The trustees will continue to target this level of reserves through planned operational surpluses.

The attached financial statements show the current state of the finances of the Institute, which the Trustees consider to be adequate.

TRUSTEES' RESPONSIBILITIES

The Trustees (who are also the directors of The Institute for Outdoor Learning for the purposes of company law) are responsible for preparing the Trustees' Annual Report and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

Company law requires the trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year which give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charitable company at the end of the year and of the incoming resources and application of resources for the year then ended.

In preparing those financial statements, the trustees are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- observe the methods and principals in the Charities SORP;
- state whether applicable accounting standards and statements of recommended practice have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed in the financial statements;
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charity will continue its activities.

The trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records which disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charitable company and to enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006. The trustees are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charity and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

This report has been prepared in accordance with the Statement of Recommended Practice: Accounting and Reporting by Charities (issued in March 2005) and in accordance with the special provisions of Statutory Instrument 2008/409 under the Companies Act 2006 relating to small companies.

It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from you as trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a "true and fair view" and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement.
